THE SILENT RISKS ON SITE

A GUIDE TO SITE HEALTH HAZARDS

Introduction

The construction industry has made great progress in cutting down incidents over recent years. However, everyday site hazards still cause too much long-term illness and sudden injuries for local tradespeople.

This free, half-day event gives self-employed builders and small construction firms clear direction, practical toolkits, and simple advice. Everything you learn on the day will help you take immediate action to protect yourself, your workers, and your business.

What We Are Covering:

- Dust & Isocyanates: Keeping lungs safe
- Hearing Loss & Loud Sites: keeping hearing safe
- Lead in Paint: Safely handling older buildings and refurbishments
- Simple Health Support: Straightforward ways to look after your team's physical wellbeing without the corporate

Get Answers Straight from the Experts

You will also have a direct opportunity to ask questions, chat with peers from across the industry,

Whether you are a self-employed jobbing builder or run a small building company, this free event is an absolute must.

Places at this Bristol event are strictly limited and fill up fast.
